Back from the daily walk with my assistant producer.
Back in the flow. Sources captured for two new episodes. One for "By the Way", into New Year, the passage of time, and the way we construct our awareness of present with back-reference. Another for "Ponder Struck", entering the second arc into the deeper elements. "Brief Snaps" already concluded the twined archetypal arc. "Walkie Talkie" follows soon.

Then in the up and coming budding series, we have "Very Easy", the trumpified "Make Awareness Great Again", following a similar arc. "Spirit Warden" too, exploring the concerns in the fields and stations of our journey, follows the lay of the land.

In new arrivals, we have "Into the Path", a most clear step-by-step walkthrough of the major concerns on the path of our cognitive evolution. As I get to it, it'll be coupled with a new series, "Essential Elements", going deeper into these core archetypes of our awareness. And to keep it all practical and practicable for you, there's a new series, "Micro Meditations" brewing. The sorts of conscious practice that you can fit in between the cracks of your day – and take it from there.

Beyond media productions, for those of you with deeper questions and more of an interest, I'm opening a new platform for consultation, courses, etc. If you'd like to be involved, then drop me a direct message on any one of these platforms or head over to ananda.icu. The contact page has all the relevant links.

I've also just launched a sister channel, Kernel Drops, on YouTube, on Instagram, and with its dedicated website, with a different strategy. Selected core content with more substantial insight, and a thousand spokes – short cuts of key points. So check those out too. Subscribe if you don't mind. And there's plenty more, but let us not spill all the beans in one go.

In closing notes, a hearty thank you for those of you who've sent contributions. How is it that the poor give from their little in service to the many, while the rich only invest in that which serves their personal interest? Into the future we roll, happily independent of anyone's opinions or support. May you find some relief, joy, or meaning in these offerings, dropping in day after day.
