Keeping track of the manifold streams in our multimodal broadcasts? How cool. Follow some of it: Take a little journey across the realms of your awareness. Reflect on all of it: Immerse in the multidimensional world of your consciousness.

We are no crafty engineers programming in spheres of otherness. Our strange pools of essence fill with the associated outpourings of choiceless awareness. Natural flow of emergence. Native resonance with your clear brains. Enjoy the show.

In a kaleidoscope of consciousness, our structured series in manifold flavors and castings are moving through the stations of their life-cycles toward the culmination. Their stations, our stations, your stations. The principal realms of awareness are very much the same for all of us.

If you follow any one of them, you will take a little journey across the realms of your awareness. If you follow all of them and consider them in parallel, the associative mesh in your brain will grow into a truly fascinating multi-dimensional construct. Not a construct external to you, rather natively integrated, compatible with your brain's innate natural interpretive models.

Presence, perception, impression, expression, compression, transformation, integration, and culmination. Or – being, seeing, feeling, wishing, willing, working, harvesting, and aligning. Not really ideas from my fertile brain, but ideas from the fertile nature itself, enveloping all of us, guiding the cycles of our lives.

The broadcast model, in and of itself, independent of content particulars, is a device for your cognitive cultivation. A multi-dimensional broad-spectrum model supporting your conscious evolution.

The primary releases on our foundry channel are supplemented by short flashback drops at "Kernel Drops". Featuring core content from older releases, typically running in parallel with the ongoing themes in new materials. If you watch all of that in parallel, as it happens, it will result in a rapid burst broad-spectrum recall across all of your cognitive contents. Interesting.

All of this for you to become a streamlined conscious operator, independent of your contents. With the broadest reach, with the greatest depth, into all that you are, into all that you carry. All geared toward convergence, your unification. And beyond that, into your release from the conditions that bind you into your reality tunnels.

Do we also naturally factor in the fundamental influences, the underlying elements of your life, the substratum of your existence. How does all of that fit in? Who knows.

It all happens as it happens in natural emergence. Not sculpted, crafted and scripted in way of an engineer. But there is a certain rhyme and reason to it all. Unfolding in way of choiceless awareness. Perhaps crafted by immanent engineer angels, or the architects of divine radiance. Who knows? These are all such fascinating myths.

And if at the end of the day, it turns out that it was only ever just me who took these journeys and no one else took a step, then that's alright. I'm doing okay here. Ascending and descending up and down the cosmic ladders, crucified without a cause, a messiah unto myself. Now there's a trip there. Good times.

Ever building bridges across fragmented realities, good old white rabbit in my back pocket, in service of the great never-never mind. These productions brought to you in collaboration with the oblivion operators. Burning our fuels in the cycles of time, for ever the greater release. What came of the world, returns to the world, and that's the measure of that. Strange pools of essence forming all around. Keep track of the flows.
