The Fourth Era of broadcasts has begun. Broader coverage on the essentials that matter. Spaced pacing and sequencing. New series rolling out — Times of Change, Shades of Sirius, Mindful Maxims. Transitional draft materials upcycled. Digests diversified. Everything added to our repository. Community space opening up soon.

And what are these eras? The 1st era laid out the basics into a longer form foundation. The 2nd era flowed free with adaptive experiments. The 3rd era was a full-throttle iteration of selected angles. The 4th era weaves together the loose ends and builds clear bridges of insight. Yes you may support the works.

The Fourth Era of broadcasts has begun. This guy just refuses to give up and retire. An era of conscious atmospheres. More patient and thorough exploration.

So what are these eras, anyways? As I started in 2024, it was the First Era. Grounds, foundations. The patient basics in long form. Come 2025, the Second Era. Adaptive flow. Playful experiments. Crossing over into 2026, the Third Era. Rather full throttle. Coherent perspectives, catalytic iteration. At a rapid pace, and that we sunset in last April.

And now, into the Fourth Era. Broader coverage on the essentials that matter. You've already seen a couple of the new series. Times of Change, Shades of Sirius and Mindful Maxims. Quite a few more in the plans.

Also in the plans, series into a more thorough course format. Say, 15 episodes exploring a topic from the beginning to the end. We'll need some funding to make that happen, but more on that later.

Some Third Era series will continue, such as this one, Behind the Scenes, and others have been gracefully wrapped. There's also a stash of 150 or so reels from the transitional era. Rough drafts to be upcycled. Coming soon.

Content for our Harvest Island cluster will diversify in formats. You've already seen Kernel Drops, the trailblazer project for short digests. Streaming since the dawn of 2026, 400 reels to date.

And yes, all of this goes into our repository at Ananda.icu. And there's a community space opening up soon – finally. With more coherent opportunities for follow-ups and interactions.

So that's the brief heads-up into our Fourth Era. If you dig what you find here, then by all means, support the works. Send a donation, help me free up more time for all these works. Be a patron of the arts.

Or simply leave some comments, share some posts, watch reels from the beginning to the end. Don't leave serial likes like a drive-by shooter. That doesn't help anyone at all. Appreciated though. So it's raining and the mist is thick. But no matter, the show must go on. See you later!
