

SECRET RED ESSENCE OF LIFE • LET'S FLASH IT IN PUBLIC HEY! (HCO03)

◀ Hearty Chatter ⇨  Video ▶  Audio ▶

LINK  PDF  YT  MP4  OGG

Words: 550 ⇨ Length: 03:00 min

⇨ Created: 2025-12-27

– You lack in the esoteric red essence of living presence! Said a friend from the yonder sphere. – You dwell in the sterile white essence of pure intellect! Well sometimes I do yes – for good reason at that. Into the inner weaves then.

#HeartyChatter #EsotericPsychology
#RedEssence #WhiteEssence
#InnerFrameworks #CognitiveCircuits

We return, in more esoteric terms, to the limited emotional unveiling and broadcasting in many of these reels.

Said a friend, swooshing high in the yonder dimensions, "You see, you sound like an AI because you lack in the esoteric red essence of living presence. Instead, you simply abide in the sterile white essence of pure intellect." All righty right, these sorts of angles humor me. Let's churn the cosmic sea.

So yes, we have the circuits and we have the power. Now, what do you think happens if you turn the mains on before the circuits are closed? All this wiring that may appear intellectual, dry and flat at times, is there for good reason – to provide harmonic containment and reflectivity. Power turns not into chaos.

These harmonic frameworks – sculpted with the white essence, yes – this conscious tree of primary archetypes. Not a mere receptor – it also invokes by its sheer presence. This crafting and cleansing and reviewing and reconciling may not be quite as sparky exciting as turning the mains on, but if you don't have that – then you are a pile of flesh and blood without a skeleton. How's that gonna work for you?

The unveiling and broadcasting of this mystic red living essence isn't something to be done indiscriminately in the public. Only perverts that go flashing their private secrets in the marketplace to get some attention. Sure, it may be initially exciting. Look at all this power that I have. I can mesmerize, even hypnotize people with my aura.

And with that you derail the whole process. You turn people into aura addicts, chasing for the next experience with no real wisdom to speak of. People go chasing for gurus and masters to experience the presence of God and divinity, all the while blinding themselves to the gateway within themselves, leading to the same experience.

Should you then be an indiscriminate pusher of the guts of your red essence – turning the public into junkies? If you do that, you're living knee-deep in your hallucinations, self-mesmerized by the energy you were only ever meant to transparently transmit. With that, the path of liberation is closed and you collapse back into the matrices of your own design.

So is there bubbling bliss and fantastic vibration somewhere under the hood or behind the beard?

Perhaps there is, but it's not to be scavenged on the internet. What we are given, ships with a certain responsibility.

If our gifts are scattered at random as a matter of promoting ourselves, advertising what we have, it will all evaporate – you will be depleted, running dry. If your essence lands not to where it rightfully belongs, you're simply a cowboy shooting your red essence lasers into the horizon of entropic decay.

If you don't like generous servings of the pure white essence, you have no business whatsoever coming anywhere in the general direction of the esoteric red essence. That's the bottom line.

 <https://ananda.icu/talks/hearty-chatter/hc003-secret-red-essence-of-life-lets-flash-it-in-public-hey>