– Problems & suffering in today's world are VERY REAL! So get off your metaphysical high horse, Mr. Wakeyman. Step into your energetic exoskeleton. Go purge the desert! Frozen fields, broken battle-axes – that final work of art.

My sympathy for the collateral children at Middle East. Deep respect for those who put themselves on the line, patching the symptoms of distorted systems at global scale, of corrupt and moribund patterns driven by insentient madmen.

Yes – these semi-conscious figureheads of our modern world. Mindlessly driven – driving this doomed framework to high hells. Each an automaton, operating in darkness, nearing their terminals. Their fates none of our concern. Nature shall harvest her dues.

Hate not the dark automatons. Hate the seeds of corruption – and purge them clear from your field of awareness. Step one. Proper nuclear winter be in order? Tick tock goes the clock. The Octopus Civilization might fare better off a clean slate.

Then – for the children. Of today – and of the world to come. That new sprouts of awareness would inherit from our works a healthier baseline for sentient existence in the collective. Whatever you can truly do – that's all. The rest rolls as it must.

♪ This one's for the children... ♪ Children of the world... "Mr. Wakey Man, get off the metaphysical high horse. The problems and the suffering in today's world are very real. Engage them on the level."

Yes, and with deep sympathy for the children, collateral of brutal and macabre acts of war. With deep respect for those supporting or providing relief efforts on the field.

With due recognition that we are but witnessing the symptoms of dysfunction of a system at a scale. Moribund perversion of principles, distorted frames of operation that are consequential – harmful, damaging, destructive, generative of suffering. These are the framework of our modern world.

And we need not wish suffering and hell for the figureheads facilitating all of these calamities. They are no longer true well-rounded sentient beings. They are semi-conscious automatons iterating through their dark operations. And their suffering is present in the here and now, in the field of awareness they experience. Whatever that it yields in times to come – Unto them, not for us, to worry of.

"Mr. Wakey Man, what you gonna do?" – What, am I supposed to put on my energetic exoskeleton? Head to the Middle East and level the deserts to a point where but radiant sand remains. Am I supposed to head over to Russia in my cognitive tank, to a point where only ice and scattered battle-axes remain. No one left to tell the tale.

It's not my doing. The world in itself, in its cycles, will provide for that outcome. The more you push it, the quicker it comes.

Do we then really need a proper nuclear winter? Freeze it all over. Let the ice come. And from the dust, ashes and shrapnel, a new civilization will arise. Perhaps the dolphins, perhaps the kangaroos. Personally I am rooting for the octopus civilization from the depths, but that remains to be seen.

And whatever fractions of a minute remain on the doomsday clock that keeps on a-advancing, worry not of the counter. Worry of your state of consciousness and the impact it has on your surrounding environment. That's all we can do at the end of the day. Take the actions for which you have openings. Beyond that, it is what it is and we move on.

So, that's the measure of that. Be well. Keep yourself safe. Keep your consciousness in the clear – for the children. Okay?
