Then the facts on how Gen-Z are dumber than their parents – for the first time in 200 years. No I won't hand you the digest in a one-liner bullet point list. Learn to read actual paragraphs. Train that brain. You may yet survive the future.

Decline in: Attention spans. Memory and recall. Literacy (duh). Negative structural changes in the brain. Life expectancy dropping. So that's it – you're officially broken. Who among you will snap out of it – wake up – overcome your conditions?

So I took a little piss on Gen Z, saying that they're dumber than their parents, and some members of the rising generation are feeling very upset. It's a fact though. We'll get to that shortly.

I even said that most of the generation will be ground to pulp in the gears of time. That's called adding injury to insult. What I just dropped there is called reverse idiom to reverse idiots. In here, I'm flexing the lexicon, aka amping up the swag.

So yes, it's a fact that for the first time in roughly 200 years, you are scoring lower than the generation before in standard academic and cognitive tests. Attention spans are dropping, memory and recall are weaker, and literacy obviously is in the pits. Hell, most of you don't survive a single well-rounded paragraph. "Can you give it to me in a one-liner bullet point list, please?" Well, sure.

With all of that, there are negative structural changes to your brains, and also your brain is aging at a faster rate. No surprise there. You're burning it randomly. Even your life expectancy is dropping. What do you expect when your brain is going defunct?

Then some are saying maybe it's not devolution, maybe we're just evolving in a different direction. Like into futuristic multi-process attention deficit multi-process scatter beings, right? Unburdened by common sense, definitions, principles in your life. What you're evolving into is sludge and sheep, aimless goo, play dough in the hands of profit-seeking corporations and their algorithms.

Biological energy sources, bypassers of truth. "Don't know, don't care, bro!" Standing for nothing, easily programmed and manipulated, triggered any which way with ease. That's what you're "evolving" into. Take a moment, let that sink in for a bit.

Born into the digital age, your behavioral patterns have been mapped, your attention triggers have been exploited since the day you first went online. Truly, the mainstream of the generation are stimulation addicts, slaves to their habits, shackled by conditions imprinted upon you by parties without your best interest in their minds.

Will you then be the exception, wake up, see your life for what it is, see this world for what it is, as it is? Deprogramming yourself, liberating your mind from the mesh that controls you. Returning to a path of well-rounded cognitive evolution.

Bypassers beware. You will be ground to pulp in times to come. Even your basic survival skills amount to nothing. You are so lost. Think about what actually matters in life. Don't believe the stories they tell you. Look into what is actually true. As in, beyond your opinions, beyond social expectations.

It's not all about pimping your ride, you know. If you actually have no coherent direction or a map to speak of, then what's the point of pimping your ride and swagging around? So that's the attention ceiling there again. Train it and it will rise higher. The brain is like a muscle. It doesn't evolve by itself.

So that's all folks. Are we stoked yet? Keep it real.
