For your convenience – to help you relate to the vastness of themes we share – here, a formal creator entity definition for your prime aggregator. Pioneer of cognitive evolution and liberation. Broad-spectrum recompiler of beneficial axioms and essence. Reflective broadcaster of the fullness of life. Dissolver of your fragmented silos – builder of abstract cross-domain bridges – weaver of the loom of our integration. Please friends – cast me not into your isolated buckets.

So who are you? I suppose there is a need to provide a working definition for the creator entity behind all the productions happening on this channel. To erect the umbrella, to cast out the net, to provide cohesion for the mesh of our manifold streams.

So greetings, friends. My name is Ananda – and yes, that's my real legal name. I've been engaged in works of cognitive evolution and cultivation of awareness for the past three decades, both in terms of classical wisdom traditions and independently in more abstract terms.

Beyond my extensive background in Hindu and Buddhist studies and practice,

I've extended the scope to accommodate any and all frameworks of thought that hold axioms and essence that are of benefit for us all.

I'm also a veteran coder and a software architect, and I've done my rounds in the systems thinking world and thy philosophies across the pages of history. Stories, myths, narratives, rhetoric, modes of communication – necessary references, arts and skills in conveying the abstract into particular worlds.

From that master basin, my friend, all these streams are pouring out in countless series. Then, with my background, there is not any single particular concern domain that I can box myself into. There is but the general concern domain of our cognitive evolution and liberation, accounting for every aspect that a well-rounded life brings before us.

As we seek to become well-rounded human beings, we cannot file aspects of ourselves into silos. Rather, we should dissolve our boundaries, break down our fences, start building bridges across the fractured realms of our lives. We do this with the help of higher-level cognitive abstractions, tiered aggregator models – in recompiling the trees of our lives. Whether you call that mythopoetic cosmology or blueprints for the kingdom of heaven, I don't care.

Are you a teacher? What are you? Well, you think of me as you must. I don't care. I am here simply as a reflective broadcaster of the fullness of life as I see it. The content ecosystem you find here is not a random creation. It is a reflection of the workings of my consciousness. A microcosm of living essence, externalized, expressed – for you.

Make of it what you will. I don't care. Be free. That's all I care about. Not even that – like whatever. Okay? So that's who I am – and that's the measure of that for now. Thus concludes the formal creator entity definition. The fountainhead providing context for the countless streams of essence pouring forth on this channel. Make of it what you will.

Be well. Why are you an ocean in a well? Be clear. Rise beyond your fear. And be at peace. It follows your release. Finally, a classic depiction of the Dharma Chakra Mudra, holding three potatos at the fore. Enlightenment is imminent.
